

Pass Task 3.1.5

The Company to Employment History can be either zero of many depending on the interpretation. Zero would imply that a company cannot have an employment history however an employment history has many companies. Many would imply that a company may belong to many employment histories and an employment history may have many companies.